AviationManuals Adds Online Change Management Form

The Weekly Of Business Aviation Sep 10, 2018 , p. 8

Molly McMillin

AviationManuals, a provider of aircraft manual development services and Safety Management Systems (SMS), has released an online change management form for its ARC Safety Management Software and App. The digital form streamlines, monitors and executes change management within a flight department, such as moving to new hangars, adding aircraft to the fleet or naming a new director of aviation. It helps analyze risks accompanying a substantial change within the department, describes actions needed to implement the change and enables administrators to assign each task to the right individuals.
